

Webinar: Māori-led Development

What's working for whānau, hapū & iwi?
Lessons from the J R McKenzie Trust's staff and grantees.

Dr Chelsea
Grootveld
Ngāi Tai, Ngāti Porou, Whakatōhea
Te Whānau-ā-Apanui, Te Arawa

Marama
Tākao
Ngāti Rārua, Te Ātiawa,
Ngāti Toa Rangatira, Ngāti Tama,
Ngāi Tahu, Ngāi Tūhoe

Nan Wehipeihana
Ngāti Tukorehe, Ngāti Porou, Te
Whānau-ā-Apanui

In this webinar Dr Chelsea Grootveld, Marama Tākao and successful Māori development grantees of the J R McKenzie Trust demonstrate what's working for their whānau, hapū and iwi who are taking positive steps to achieve their aspirations.

TUES, 13 MAR AT 11AM | Free of Charge

Community Research webinars are free, online events where community sector professionals share expertise about what's working.

Tuesday, 13 March 2018 - 11:00am - 12.15pm BOOK HERE

This 90-minute event will take place at your desk. Places are free of charge.

Māori-led Development : What's working for whānau, hapū and iwi who are taking positive steps to achieve their aspirations?

What can we learn from Te Kāwai Toro, a bold initiative from the J R McKenzie Trust which proactively addresses and enables Māori development through philanthropic funding?

In this webinar Dr Chelsea Grootveld, Marama Tākao and successful Māori development grantees of the J R McKenzie Trust discuss what they are learning from Te Kāwai Toro.

Nan Wehipeihana will present an evaluation report which weaves together some learnings from Te Kāwai Toro's projects and initiatives.

Participants will learn:

- How whānau, hapū and iwi are taking positive steps to achieve their aspirations.
- The factors that assist this, and what we are learning about them
- The findings of a recent evaluation which reports on whānau, hapū and iwi-driven initiatives
- How funders can enable Māori development.

Who is this webinar for?

This practical webinar is for anyone within the community sector, hapū and iwi and rōpū, Government, researchers or the philanthropy sector wishing to be more informed about successful Māori development.

About the presenters

Nan Wehipeihana: Nan has more than 15 years experience in designing, leading and managing evaluation and research projects. She has a wealth of public and private sector experience in broadcasting, education, employment, health, housing, justice, social development, social policy, sport and recreation, the arts and culture and heritage.

Dr Chelsea Grootveld: Chelsea has worked in education policy, research and evaluation for the past 15 years. She is Director of Aiko Consultants Limited and has been working with a team of kaupapa Māori-centred evaluators on a formative evaluation of Te Pūtahitanga, the Whānau Ora commissioning agency for Te Waipounamu (South Island).

Marama Tākao: Marama is the Māori Development Advisor/Kaitohutohu for the JR McKenzie Trust and works alongside various community organisations, iwi, hapū and roopu Māori to support their development. Marama traces her whakapapa to Ngāti Rārua, Te Ātiawa, Ngāti Toa Rangatira, Ngāti Tama, Kai Tahu, Ngāi Tūhoe, Ngāi Te Rangī.